Dungarvan, Co Waterford, Ireland

Brief History of Dungarvan Town

The town's original Irish name of Dun Garbhan takes its name from Saint Garbhann who founded a church here in the seventh century. The Norman's built a large fortification in the 13th century. The fifth and sixth Dukes of Devonshire decided to replan the town in the nineteenth century. With its new square, streets and a bridge, Dungarvan grew and flourished eventually into the thriving business and residential centre it is today, offering an appealing blend of traditional and modern lifestyles. Dungarvan is also an ideal base from which to tour the Ring and Ardmore peninsula, the Blackwater Valley, the Comeragh and Nire Valley drives, the Vee Scenic Drive via Lismore and of course, the Coastal Drive to Tramore. Dungarvan is also a noted deep sea angling centre with shark, general ground and wreck fishing available.

Message from Munster Centre Chairman - Paul Cahill

The 2010 National Rally, hosted by the Munster Centre on behalf of the Irish Division will be held in Dungarvan, Co Waterford from Thursday 1st April to Tuesday 6th April 2010. The rally venue is St Augustine's College, Abbeyside, Dungarvan. The college is set on the idyllic Atlantic south coast of Ireland. Dungarvan is the administrative centre of County Waterford and is a thriving industrial and tourist centre. The town's Irish name means 'Garbhan's Fort'; St Garbhan founded a church here in the 7th century. The town lies on the N25 road which connects Cork, Waterford and Rosslare Europort and will make an ideal base for exploring the area. Tourist information is available on the Websites mentioned and will be available on site.

The rally site is situated within the grounds of the College with ample hard standing and a reasonable amount of grass areas for caravans with awnings. There will be no electric hook-ups but battery charging facilities will be available. The site will be signposted from the N25 bypassing Dungarvan Town and is situated on the Waterford side of the town.

The Munster Centre are looking forward to hosting the rally and promise the customary friendly welcome to all visitors to the rally. With so many places of interest in the area, short or longer sight seeing trips can easily be planned or why not take the guided bus tours which can be booked on arrival at the rally.

As the year progresses various details about the rally will be posted on the Irish Division Website - www.thecaravanclub.ie

We look forward to seeing you in Dungarvan at Easter.

*Safe caravanning,
Paul Cahill*
